Changes in Speech Recognition Scores and Sound Quality According to Gain Adjustment in High Frequency Bands

Hyeryeong Jo¹², Mikyung Lee³, Jihun Kim⁴, Eunchul Choi⁵, Hyungoo Lee⁶, Kyoungwon Lee¹²

¹Department of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology, Hallym University of Graduate Studies, Seoul, Korea
²HUGS Center for Hearing and Speech Research, Seoul, Korea
³Phonak Mapo Hearing Aid Center, Seoul, Korea
⁴Phonak Masan Hearing Aid Center, Changwon, Korea
⁵Phonak Sejong Hearing Aid Center, Sejong, Korea
⁶Widex Seocho Hearing Aid Center, Seoul, Korea

The original version of this article entitled "Changes in Speech Recognition Scores and Sound Quality According to Gain Adjustment in High Frequency Bands by Hyeryeong Jo et al. (Audiol Speech Res 2022;18(2):73-82)" contained an error in the Figure 6 legend.

The original legend

Figure 6. Results of K-PHAB-Q pre and post the high frequency gain adjustment. Bar means standard deviation. *p < 0.05. p < 0.01. K-PHAB-Q: Korean version of profile of hearing aid benefit-quick version.

The corrected legend

Figure 6. Results of sound qualities pre and post the high frequency gain adjustment. Bar means standard deviation. *p < 0.05. p < 0.01.